Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, May 20.—Georgetown University defeated University of Pennsylvania here this afternoon by 5 to 1. This makes Georgetown's fifteenth straight victory this season. Four of Georgetown's five runs came during the short-pitching term of Walter Larsen, the southpaw from Salt Lake City. Larsen was on the peak three innings and allowed four hits.

After that Walter Huntzinger, the Scranton youth, who has won seven straight games, assumed charge, and in six innings Georgetown failed to get a hit.

Penn outhit Georgetown two to one, but Reynolds, the veteran right-hander, was a master-worker in the pinches.
