

Columbia Scores 15 Points in Row to Beat Penn Quintet in Eastern League

LIONS WIN, 48-34, AND GAIN IN RACE

Columbia Routs Penn Five as Feature of Alumni Day on Morningside Heights

MYERS, HASSLINGER STAR

Blue Matmen Lose to Cornell by 23-3, but Fencers Turn Back Princeton, 16-11

LEAGUE BASKETBALL STANDING

	W.	L.	Points	For	Ag'tst.
Dartmouth	3	1	301	225
Princeton	3	1	132	146
Cornell	3	2	177	155
Yale	2	3	195	186
Columbia	2	3	186	183
Harvard	1	3	151	172
Pennsylvania	1	4	167	242

By ARTHUR J. DALEY

Columbia bade adieu last night to Penn, its fellow tenant along with Harvard of the Eastern Intercollegiate Basketball League cellar, and hopped into a tie with Yale for fourth place as the crowning touch of Alumni Day on Morningside Heights. The Lions topped the Quakers, 48 to 34, and nudged them into last place undisputed, while idle Harvard was jostled into sixth.

The Light Blue five thrilled some 2,000 old grads by unfolding their best game of the season, completing a successful day for Columbia teams. In the afternoon the Lion varsity fencers vanquished Princeton, 16 to 11, while the freshmen turned back the Tiger cub swordsmen, 15 to 12. Only the wrestlers were thrown for a loss as Cornell won 23 to 3.

Coach Paul Mooney of the court operatives had been moaning all season that his heroes seemed utterly unable to go over the 40-point mark. But they did it this time with a vengeance as they combined accuracy with the usual Lion drive and hustle.

Home Team Starts Slowly

Columbia tallied precisely one point in the first four minutes, while Penn built up a 9-1 lead. But as soon as the Blue discovered the general whereabouts of the basket, Lon Jourdet's boys went into a scoring fog, going 12 minutes without a point.

Columbia, refusing to let an opportunity like that go whisking by, pieced together fifteen straight points and had a 16-9 advantage. Play was fairly even for the rest of the period so that the Lions had a 20-14 lead at the intermission.

Columbia's defense became adamant starting the second half and the center alley was plugged up so neatly that Penn's scoring chances were few and far between. There was really nothing to it after that. Columbia's lead went as high as 19 points and Mooney rushed in his reserves.

However, he did leave Albie Myers in long enough to register 13 points and hence leap from fifth among the league scores to second with 66 markers. The little whirlwind was matched by Sophomore Bill Hasslinger, who also had 13.

But the spark plug of the Columbia attack was Sophomore Johnny Cerrone, who directed play and kept digging every minute. In these tactics he had plenty of company, for the Lions were plucking rebounds off both baskets and had such complete control of the ball that they also had complete control of the game. Furthermore the Blue was breaking mighty fast and never easing up on the pressure.

Soleliac Is Impressive

Sid Levinson was high gun for the Quakers with 8 points but Henry Soleliac caught the eye as being the Philadelphian with the greatest possibilities for the future.

At a luncheon in John Jay Hall two annual trophies were awarded. The Bouvier Memorial Rowing Cup, for the most improved sophomore oarsman, went to Edward Gibbon, while the Class of 1913 Football Cup, for the athlete with the highest scholastic average, was presented jointly to Vince Gutendorf, reserve quarterback, and Val Diehl, reserve tackle. Their averages for the first semester were identical.

THE SUMMARIES

Varsity Basketball

COLUMBIA (48)		PENN (34)
C. P. P.	G. P. P.	C. P. P.	G. P. P.
Myers, lf.....6	13	Seeders, lf.....1	3
McIlvennan, rft.....3	3	Caputo.....2	0
Hasslinger.....5	13	Hahn, rf.....0	1
Masack, c.....1	3	Reinhard.....0	0
Gilligan.....1	0	Schreiber.....2	0
Richmond.....0	0	Soleliac, c.....1	2
Thompson.....0	0	Hook.....1	0
Navlor, lg.....1	0	Pearee.....0	3
Cerrone.....3	0	Levinson, rg.....3	2
Sager.....0	0	Weisberg.....1	2
Will, rg.....1	4
Total.....19	10	Total.....11	24

Officials—Pete Sinnott and Dave Walsh. Time of halves—20 minutes.

Varsity Wrestling

Cornell 23, Columbia 3

121-Pound Class—Joe Littleton, Cornell, defeated Al Marasca, decision.

128-Pound Class—Robert Mathers, Cornell, defeated William Norris, decision.

165-Pound Class—Adam Richtschudt, Cornell, defeated Henry Mueller, decision.

145-Pound Class—Martin Chadwick, Columbia, defeated Lou White, decision.

155-Pound Class—Jim Trousdill, Cornell, defeated Don Meehan, decision.

165-Pound Class—Ted Bowen, Cornell, defeated Charles Holt, decision.

175-Pound Class—Ford Brown, Cornell, defeated Vic Zaro, decision.

Heavyweight Class—Reginald Harrison, Cornell, pinned Van Kamas with a hair nelson and crotch hold in 8:25.

Varsity Fencing

Columbia 16, Princeton 11

Foil—Leon Selzer, Columbia, defeated William Flanagan, 5-4; John Zaugg, 5-3; and Richard Brown, 5-3; Armand Mascia, Columbia, defeated Zaugg, 5-4; and Darwin Wood, 5-3; Herbert Spiselman, Columbia, defeated Frank Lockhart, 5-4; Flanagan, Princeton, defeated Spiselman, 5-4; and Mascia, 5-4; Zaugg, Princeton, defeated Spiselman, 5-1. Columbia 6, Princeton 3.

Epee—Marvin Metzger, Columbia, defeated Zaugg, 3-1; Emile Rimbault, 3-0; and John Beatty, 3-1; Sanford Rogers, Columbia, defeated Jim Hughes, 3-0; Peter Conomies, Columbia, defeated Beatty, 3-2; Zaugg, Princeton, defeated Abe Martinez, 3-0; and Rogers, 3-0; Rimbault, Princeton, defeated Martinez, 3-1; and Rogers, 3-1. Columbia 5, Princeton 4.

Saber—James Welles, Columbia, defeated Zaugg, 5-1; Phil Greene, 5-0; and Ray Dudley, 5-2; Gordon Wallis, Columbia, defeated Zaugg, 5-2 and Phil Greene, 5-1; Dudley, Princeton, defeated Gordon Wallis, 5-1; and Don Hirsch, 5-3; Zaugg, Princeton, defeated Hirsch, 5-4; Greene, Princeton, defeated Hirsch, 5-4. Columbia 5, Princeton 4.

COLUMBIA ATHLETES RECEIVING AWARDS ON ALUMNI DAY FOR THEIR ACCOMPLISHMENTS

Valentine Diehl (left) and Vincent Fritz Gutendorf (right), co-winners of the Class of 1913 Football Cup, with Walter Mohr during the ceremonies in John Jay Hall yesterday.

Maxwell Stevenson presenting the W. S. Bouvier Rowing Cup to Edward Gibbon, who was stroke of the freshman crew last season.