

Army Vanquishes Princeton, Scoring Five Unearned Tallies in First Inning

TIGERS LOSE, 9-7, WHEN RALLY FAILS

Shepherd of Army Relieves Ordway in Ninth Inning and Strands 3 Men

Special to The New York Times.
PRINCETON, N. J., May 25—Army scored five unearned runs in the first inning and staved off a Princeton rally today to gain a 9-7 Eastern Intercollegiate League victory.

The Black Knights needed only two singles, two sacrifices and a fielders choice in their first-inning outburst, which was aided by three Princeton errors.

The Tigers had won two and tied one in their last three league outings after dropping their first five circuit games.

With two out in the ninth, Princeton filled the bases against Rod Ordway, who relieved Jon Rindfleisch in the fifth. William Shepherd took the mound for Army and threw three straight strikes to John Lehman.

Army had raised its lead to 7-0 in the second inning on Fred Franks' two-run, 350-foot circuit blast.

Princeton scored single runs in the second and third and reached Rindfleisch for three hits and three runs in the fifth.

Army increased its lead with two unearned runs in the sixth, but Princeton got two unearned tallies in the bottom of the frame.

Ordway posted his first victory of the season. Princeton's starter, Leigh Ford, was the loser.

Penn Downs Cornell

Special to The New York Times.
PHILADELPHIA, May 25—A home run by Jay Yocum with one on base in the seventh helped Pennsylvania defeat Cornell, 5 to 2, in an Eastern Intercollegiate League baseball game today on Murphy Field. The teams finished in a tie for last place with records of 1-7.

Both pitchers, Ned Langhorne of Penn, and Ted Thelander of Cornell, went all the way. Langhorne, getting his first victory in seven games, allowed eight hits. Thelander yielded nine.

Cornell gained a lead of 1-0 in the second on a double by Jay Reynolds and an error, the bobble scoring Norman Juvonen.

Penn tied in the fifth when Yocum singled home Mel Seki, who had doubled.

In the sixth Penn went ahead, 2-1, on a single and a sacrifice and an infield out on which Gordon Achilles scored.

Cornell tied the score in the seventh when John Williams singled to send home Ed Tibbets.

In its half of the seventh Penn gained a lead of 4-2 on Yocum's home run to deep left-center with Alex De Lucia on base.

In the eighth Penn filled the bases and Bob Sebastianelli scored on Seki's sacrifice bunt.

Batteries—Thelander and Sulter; Langhorne and Rohrbacher.

Amherst Takes Title

Special to The New York Times.
MIDDLETOWN, Conn., May 25—Amherst won the Little Three championship today by defeating Wesleyan, 6 to 1, behind the four-hit pitching of Ted Kambour. The Ephmen have a 3-0 record in the Little Three competition and play their final league game against Williams on June 7.

Kambour's pitching and Wesleyan's sloppy fielding told the story of the game. Kambour added to his honors by driving in one of the three runs in the third inning.

Amherst ..... 0 1 3 0 0 2 0 0 0-6 7 3
Wesleyan ..... 0 1 0 0 0 0 0 0 0-1 4 3
Batteries—Kambour and King; Wissing, Hordow (7) and Young; R. Smith (9).
