

Penn Five Is Triumphant Over Princeton by 78-63

Special to The New York Times

PRINCETON, N.J., Jan. 3—Princeton and Penn, two teams who have won or shared the Ivy League championship 14 times in the last 15 years, opened their Ivy seasons against each other tonight in Jadwin Gymnasium.

The Quakers prevailed, 78-63, in a mistake-filled game, and late in the second half the Penn cheering section began a chant of, "We're No. 1 in the Ivy League."

The Princeton coach, Pete Carril, said after the game, "This was one of the worst lickings we've ever taken from Penn, at least since I've been here."

It was the first time a Princeton team has given up more than 72 points since January 1975 when the Tigers lost to Duke, 90-73.

Penn shot 66 percent from the field in the second half, hitting on 20 of 30 shots. Kevin McDonald, a 6-foot-6-inch Penn senior, led all scorers with 23 points.

There were 43 turnovers in the game, including 26 by Princeton.

Penn led at halftime by 27-26. Penn then outscored Princeton by 12-2 early in the second half to take a 47-36 lead with 12 minutes left in the game.
